Senior Issue 2011

Rooney, Ortiz address grads

By Stacey Nieves '11

Valedictorian Mary Rooney and salutatorian Carolina Ortiz represented Archbishop Molloy's Class of 2011 on Graduation Day on June 11 at Colden Auditorium at Queens College.

Rooney and Ortiz, who delivered speeches during the ceremony on the seniors' shared past at Molloy and on their futures at college, earned this privilege by having the Class of 2011's top academic averages in a close race that came down to decimal points.

The victors of such a close race were pleasantly surprised by the news.

Rooney said that she was "a little surprised," and "knew there was a lot of competition."

Ortiz was also surprised, but said that "once the initial shock went away, I was just happy. I couldn't wait to tell my family and friends."

When asked how hard she'd worked to attain that top average, Rooney said, "Honestly, this year I gave up [working hard] in January."

Ortiz said, "I'm sure if you ask any of my friends, they'll say I was a workaholic, but I never really noticed it most of the time."

Rooney, who intends to major in Chemistry in the fall at Hofstra University where her father is a professor, said before the ceremony she was "somewhat nervous" as she is "not really a public speaker."

Ortiz, who plans to major in Biology and minor in Creative Writing at the University of Pennsylvania, said it was "really daunting" when she realized that she would be speaking in front of about 2,000 people.

Ortiz said it took days to figure out a topic but in the end she liked her speech and hoped "everyone will enjoy it."

Valedictorian Mary Rooney

Salutatorian Carolina Ortiz

Public Speaking teacher Ms. Mary Pat Gannon, who worked with Ortiz and Rooney to prepare their speeches, said they had produced "wonderful first drafts" but needed to "work on how to 'sell' their message to the audience."

Ms. Gannon said, "I want everybody to be able to appreciate the mind that is up there and the message she is trying to convey."

These two Stanners have impressed many teachers over the years.

Ms. Gannon, who taught both Rooney and Ortiz, called Rooney "one of the most mature, sophisticated, intelligent minds I've seen in decades."

Ms. Gannon described Ortiz as "one of the best natural writers I've ever met" with an "instinctive ear for diction" who "falls naturally into a cadence of parallel structure."

Mr. James Sheehan, who taught A.P. Composition to both Rooney and Ortiz, called Rooney, "one of the most observant students I've worked with in nearly 300 years of teaching."

He described her as "a kung fu warrior of academia — perceptive, amazingly intelligent and focused."

"Her many abilities and her mature sensibilities will make a difference in our world," he said.

Mr. Sheehan said that Ortiz was "deservedly a Gold Key winner of the Scholastic Arts national writing competition."

"Imaginative, insightful and intuitively aware of the world around her, Carolina makes magic with words, getting at the truth of things in her distinctive, compassionate voice," he said.

Mr. Michael DeMarco, moderator of Science Olympiad, called Rooney, who hopes to work one day in a FBI forensics lab, "one of the key reasons we took second place [in the city competition] this year."

He called her "talents in Chemistry coupled with hard work an unbeatable combination."

Mr. DeMarco said of Ortiz, who plans to become a pediatric oncologist, "Her skill in biology, good personality and bedside manner" would make her "a great doctor."

Rooney and Ortiz impressed their classmates as well.

"I asked Mary Rooney to sign my senior polo," said Eleni Kavvadias. "When she did, I drew a box around her name because I wanted the future President of the United States to have a special place on my shirt."

"When teachers don't know an answer to a question, they ask Mary Rooney," Kavvadias added.

Senior Christina Jarosch called Ortiz "the most caring and selfless person I know. She is like Wonder Woman. She inspires me."

Like many seniors, Rooney described her feelings about graduating as "weird."

"It seems like we had such a short time in high school," she said.

She hopes college will be "exciting" and looks forward to gaining "more independence."

Said Ortiz, "Graduating is both sad and happy. You're going to miss all your teachers, friends, and generally everything that makes Molloy great, but at the same time you're looking at a whole new beginning ahead of you. It's rather paradoxical."

Senior Kyrá Meli

Meli, Dorgler are top senior athletes

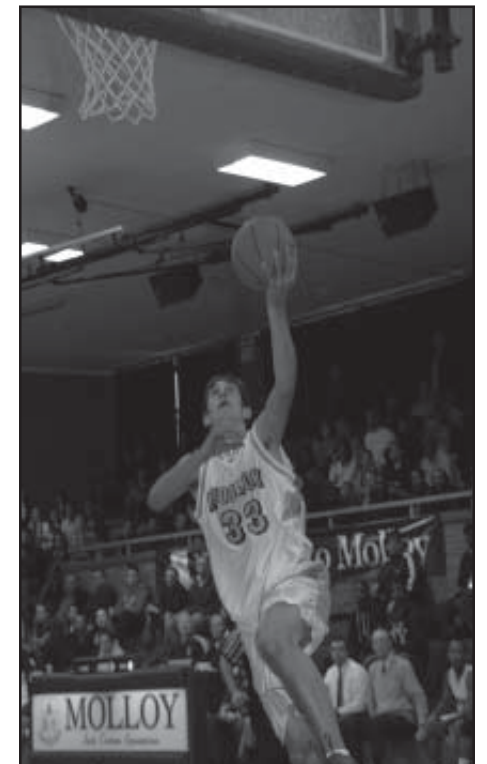

Basketball player Christopher Dorgler and soccer player Kyrá Meli were named the Outstanding Male and Female Senior Athletes at Molloy's Sports Awards Night on May 24 in the Jack Curran Gym.

The vote among coaches to determine the male athlete of the year was particularly close as it took several rounds of voting to break a tie and pick a winner.

"This is a very difficult award to determine because of the outstanding achievements of our senior class," said

Athletic Director Mr. Mike McCleary. "This year's finalists were all team captains and include an individual City champion, six All-League Players, a two-time Queens Player of the Year and City Player of the Year. They made All-Queens teams seven times, All-City teams seven times."

Mr. McCleary said that, as a group, the finalists for the awards won 16 Brooklyn-Queens Championships, four City Championships, one State Championship and one Federation title,

Teachers say a final goodbye to 'best class ever'

The Molloy Administration, Faculty and Staff would like to say goodbye to a "great" senior class.

Principal Bro. Thomas Schady said, "Congratulations Class of 2011! I want to tell you to be as smart as you can be but remember that it's always better to be wise than smart. Don't be upset that it takes a long, long time to find wisdom. It tends to break out at unexpected times and people with compassion and understanding are most susceptible to it. God's blessing on all of you!"

Assistant Principal Sister Elizabeth Bickar said, "Farewell to a truly great senior class! Your spirit — just think of Spirit Week last April — has been exuberant and enthusiastic since your first day as freshmen. I'll miss you and all that you've brought to Molloy. Our school is richer and better for your having spent these four years here. I wish you God's blessing on all that you do in the future. Vaya con Dios. Go with God!"

Guidance counselors have one last piece of advice.

Mr. Chris Dougherty said, "So many memories come to mind: the Walk-a-thon trip to Manhattan, Anime Boston 2011, Italia 2011 (Ciao!), all the Electronics Recycling and Rockaway Beach clean up trips, the Palisades trips and Christmas parties, Shake Shack, Shea Stadium, Citi Field, and Sprit Week City Cruise.

"In Peer Groups, S.M.I.L.E. and Senior Encounters there have many great moments. We will miss you. Go to college with all you've learned here academically, emotionally, and spiritually. Remember to bring some Vitamin C and quarters for laundry.

Best of luck to each of you."

Mrs. Rachel Galla said, "Make the most of the next few years; they will be your best. Trust in yourself, knowing that we trust in you. Congratulations and best of luck!"

Bro. Eugene Birmingham said, "Best wishes and congratulations to a fun-loving and hard-working senior class. Whether working at the Esopus Camps, the Faculty-Senior Basketball Game, the Briarwood Shelter or the Coat, Shoe and Can Drives, you have shown a wonderful preferential option for the least favored. Continue with your generous nature. You'll be missed!"

The Language Dept. says "adios."

Signora Palmira Dionisi said, con affetto, "I miei piu sinceri auguri a tutti i diplomati del 2011. Vi auguro un futuro pieno di tanto successo, prosperita' e tanta buona fortuna. E' stato un piacere insegnarvi!!!"

Mr. Lou Santos said, "Senior Class 2011: Remember always that good luck is the residual of hard work."

Coach Santos added for his softball players, "I have been a very fortunate person to have had you be part of my life for the last four years. Thanks for wonderful memories."

The English Dept. turns to literature.

Ms. Liz Murdocca said, "Ivy Baker Priest wrote: 'The world is round, and the place which may seem like the end may also be the beginning.' I wish you the best in your new beginnings. You have given me much joy over the past four years and I know that you will now go on to spread that joy to the world. May you all have extraordinary lives. All my love."

Ms. Mary Pat Gannon said,

Ms. Murdocca tells the Class of 2011 to "spread the joy."

"Writer Toni Morrison's father was a welder. He took incredible care with each bolt he placed - he wanted it to be perfect. She commented that no one would ever see his work. He told her: 'But I will know I always did my best.' Please be like that. Stay true to your standards no matter what the world says or does. Blessings and peace to you all."

Mr. Matt Kilkelly said to the Class of 2011, "You have left your mark on Molloy! Congratulations and the best of luck in your future. Literary Magazine senior members: Thanks for all you have done to make this an outstanding year. Now it's time to write the next chapter of your lives. Go and be great!"

Mr. Charley McKenna said, "In 40 years, if you look back at your time Molloy as the best four years of your life, you'll know you are a failure. Not for school but for life. High school is over and it's time to move on. Don't look back. The best is yet to come."

Mrs. Terri Burke said, "To my 2011 Senior Art Class — Lianna, Rashawn, Kevin, Kathleen, Alexandra, Louis, Lucas, Isobel, Karen, Kara, Max, Eleni, Nicole, Natalie, Joe and Liz — I hope your imaginations and dreams guide you through your future opportunities. As Emerson states, 'In art, the hand can never execute anything higher than the heart can imagine.' Good Luck, take care, and all my best."

Mr. John Diorio said, "I want to congratulate all the seniors on all their successes and especially the seniors I was fortunate to have in my classes. All of you developed into 'superstars.' I enjoyed my time with you immensely. You are always welcome to return to my class. If I ever can be of assistance, please don't hesitate to call. By the way, I believe the Class of 2011 is the 'Best Class Ever.'"

Mr. Mark Lombardi said, "You are each capable of far greater accomplishments than you could imagine. Take responsibility for your future success or failure now and you'll most likely succeed. Best wishes and congratulations to the class of 2011."

Mr. Don Mooney said, "You will always hold a special place in my heart because we became Stanners at the same time. I will always appreciate your kindness and patience with me. As freshmen, you made my first year very enjoyable and an easy adjustment. I will miss your friendliness and cheerfulness. Never stop smiling, but if you do, tell yourself a joke about an astronaut who would rather work with animals. Until we meet again!"

Ms. Dorothy DeNoto said, "I have such fond memories of you students studying, reading, researching or quietly doing your homework in the Library over the past four years, OK, maybe not so quietly. I also will remember long after you graduate the Get Up and Go volunteers who gave their hearts to those youngsters. Last but not least, to all those who shared their Senior Encounter with me, I say, 'Love from my heart to yours!' All of you have a special place in my heart!"
