

Don't Get Scammed on Your Way to College

Avoid financial aid fraud.

Avoid scams and paying for free services when you're searching for scholarships, filling out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA®), and sharing your personal information.

Don't Pay for Help to Find Money for College

Commercial financial aid advice services can cost well over $1,000. You might have heard or seen these claims at seminars or online:

- "Buy now or miss this opportunity." Don't give in to pressure tactics. Remember, the "opportunity" is a chance to pay for information you could find yourself for free. Check out our list of free sources of financial aid information below.
- "We guarantee you'll get aid." A company could claim it fulfilled its promise if you were offered student loans or a $200 scholarship. Is that worth a fee of $1,000 or more?
- "I've got aid for you; give me your credit card or bank account number." Never give out such information unless you know the organization you're giving it to is legitimate. You could be putting yourself at risk of identity theft.

Don't Pay for the FAFSA

Several websites offer help filing the FAFSA for a fee. These sites are not affiliated with or endorsed by the U.S. Department of Education. We urge you not to pay these sites for assistance that you can get for free elsewhere. The official FAFSA is at fafsa.gov, and you can get free help to complete it from

- the financial aid office at your college or the college(s) you're thinking about attending;
- the FAFSA's online help at fafsa.gov; and
- the Federal Student Aid Information Center (studentaid@ed.gov or 1-800-4-FED-AID).

If you are asked for your credit card information while filling out the FAFSA online, you are not at the official government site. Remember, the official FAFSA site address—fafsa.gov—has.gov in it!
