Scoring Notes for Secondary Social Studies CBAs (Grades 6-12)

The following rules apply when scoring any of the Social Studies Classroom-Based Assessments (CBAs) for grades 6-12.

1. Position: All CBA responses should include a position. In some cases, such as the “Constitutional Issues” CBA, this position is meant to be persuasive. For other CBAs, such as the “Enduring Cultures” CBA, it is the well-reasoned conclusion that the student has drawn about the cultures being examined. In both cases, however, the response must do more than simply restate information. Instead, every CBA response should make a case or argument for looking at a particular issue, topic, or event in a particular way.

2. Explanation and Analysis for Background, Reasons, or Evidence: Any required explanation or analysis should include at least one specific detail or example as well as the student’s commentary on how the detail or example relates to the position, issue, or topic being addressed in the CBA response. Just providing commentary or just listing specific details is not adequate to earn a response credit for explaining or analyzing something.

3. Sources: All CBAs for grades 6-12 require responses to use and cite 3 or more sources. To be credited for the use and citation of a source, the response must explicitly address the source within the text and provide enough bibliographic information so that an outside reviewer could find the source (e.g., author, title, and url for an online article) or, at least, be able to corroborate the existence of the source (e.g., informal interviews). The only source for which a student does not need to provide bibliographic information is the U.S. Constitution.

4. A.C.C.E.: There are four qualities that any CBA response must have to earn credit. In short, they must be accurate, clear, cohesive, and explicit in addressing the relevant concepts.
   a. Cohesive: All parts, paragraphs, or sections of a CBA response must fit together in one cohesive whole. If it is so disjointed that an outside reviewer would not be able to gather the overall position, it cannot earn credit.
   b. Clear: If an outside reviewer cannot follow the points made in a CBA response due to lack of clarity, it cannot be credited.
   c. Explicit: Responses should address concepts and elements required by the rubric in explicit terms. For example, if the rubric requires the response to include a discussion of a particular perspective, it should be clear to an outside reviewer where that discussion is in the response. Credit should not be given to points that require inferences to be made.
   d. Accurate: For a response to earn any credit, the information provided for a particular criterion must be accurate. The following is a supplemental criterion to be used in conjunction with CBA’s rubric when the response contains inaccuracies. In sum, a response should earn no more than a “3” for a particular criterion if there are some minor inaccuracies and no more than a “2” for a particular criterion if there are any major inaccuracies.

5. Writing: Conventions, organization, and style are not formally evaluated when using the CBA rubric alone. However, OSPI recommends that teachers use a writing rubric to supplement the scoring of responses to the CBAs.
The following document outlines only some of the many ways students could reach proficiency in responding to this particular CBA. It is meant to provide abbreviated examples of how the rubric works. It is recommended that for each criterion, you begin with Score Point 3 (“Meeting Standard”): it is highlighted because the purpose of the task is to see if students can meet standard (i.e., reach proficiency).

Criterion A – Position

| 4 – Excellent (Exceeding Standard) | States a position on two groups’ uses of the environment that includes:
  • An analysis of how the two groups’ uses are similar or different.
  • A general statement of how these groups’ experiences helps us understand a current issue or event. | Turkey, Syria and Iraq all use the Euphrates River as a primary water source and to irrigate their land. All three countries depend on the water. Iraq and Turkey are mostly to blame for the pollution of the water, but Syria and Turkey are using most of the water by building dams and hydroelectric projects. We need to understand each country’s role in this issue because the fighting over the water usage has recently caused the countries to pose military action against each other. I think that all three countries are partially to blame and that they should try to compromise. |
| 3 – Proficient (Meeting Standard) | States a position on two groups’ uses of the environment that includes

Criterion B – Background

| 4 – Excellent (Exceeding Standard) | Provides background on the position by:
  • Explaining two plausible alternatives to the groups’ uses of the environment that addresses costs and benefits. | Syria and Iraq have posed military action against Turkey because Turkey is using more than their share of water and is polluting the water by using large amounts of chemicals. Iraq also posed military action against Syria for using too much water. But, Iraq has also polluted that water by dumping oil into the river. So, I think a good compromise is to let Turkey complete their dam and hydroelectric projects, but since Turkey would still be using so much water, they would need to share the food and money from these projects with Syria and Iraq. Iraq would also have to agree to fund oil clean up projects so that the water quality is better. If that doesn’t work, the three countries must share the water equally. Each country would only be able to use 1/3 of the river. They would also have to design their own water clean |

| 4 – Excellent (Exceeding Standard) | Makes explicit references within the paper or presentation to four or more credible sources that provide relevant information.
Cites sources within the paper, presentation, or bibliography. | In the book The Conflict over the Euphrates River, Ted Maine says that Syria and Iraq have posed military action against Turkey because Turkey is using more than their share of water and is polluting the water by using large amounts of chemicals (2006).

Note: If you are interested in sharing samples of student responses to this CBA, please email Caleb Perkins (Caleb.Perkins@k12.wa.us). We are particularly interested in posting proficient responses in a variety of formats (e.g., essays, videotaped presentations, etc.). Your help is greatly appreciated.
