

Main Character

- The main character is often mentioned on the cover page
- The main character is usually mentioned from the beginning to the end of the story
- Pictures of the main character often appear the most throughout the story
- The name of the main character is often mentioned the most throughout the story
- The main character does more "stuff" throughout the story than any of the other characters
- If the book contains a summary or "blurb," the reviewer often talks about the main character first and /or more than other characters