The Journey

"...where the youth of the city might find the advantages of a solid education, and where their minds might receive the moral training necessary to maintain the credit of Catholicity."

- RIGHT REVEREND JOHN LOUGHLIN, 1870

For over 140 years, the youth of New York City have been offered a superior education steeped in Catholic tradition and designed to build citizens "enamored by truth and goodness of charity and freedom."

From the corner of Willoughby and Lewis Avenues to a quiet neighborhood in Queens, the experience shared is one of academic rigor in a community focused upon spiritual, moral and emotional growth.

Our Commitment

"Here will be trained the leaders of tomorrow - the teachers, doctors, lawyers, engineers, scientists, writers, shapers and makers of a future and a better America. Here will be trained the mothers and fathers who will build holy homes that will keep America safe and healthy." - BISHOP BRIAN MCENTEGART, 1961

Today's students are the beneficiaries of a remarkable heritage. Challenged and encouraged to grow spiritually, intellectually, emotionally and morally, they leave St. John's Prep committed to their families, their school, their community and their country. This shared commitment is a bond that will unite them throughout their lives.
