About Us: The ACLD Tillotson School was founded in 1972 by a not-for profit corporation, The Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities, Incorporated. Located in the South Hills area of Pittsburgh, the ACLD Tillotson School serves students ages 5 to 21 and school districts throughout a seven-county region. The school is licensed by the Pennsylvania State Board of Private Academic Schools and is approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE) and the Bureau of Special Education (BSE) to provide support and services to students with disabilities above and beyond those available in traditional classrooms. With highly specialized and individualized programs, students with complex learning disabilities and autism disorders are met with success.

The Reading Clinic supports students in need of intensive, high frequency reading interventions, delivered with direct, explicit instruction on a 1-to-1 basis or in small groups.

The Specialized Learning Support Program supports students with neurological impairments and moderate to severe learning disabilities in need of direct, explicit, and multisensory instruction with research based methodologies.

The Autism Support Program supports students with autism who are in need of highly structured, research based programming in order to gain optimal access to learning. Assistive technology supports an adapted curriculum, which is aligned with the Pennsylvania Core Standards. Individual and small group instruction, sensory integration support, and executive functioning support are also available to students enrolled in this program.

Reasons to Choose Us:

- An individualized education plan and effective instructional approach coupled with a low staff-to-student ratio
- Use of evidence-based multisensory approaches to educating students with disabilities
- Highly specialized curriculum that meets individual student needs
- Student-centered educational programs that address physical, cognitive, emotional and social growth & development
- Highly dedicated and experienced administrators, teachers and support staff

Admission Information:

The ACLD Tillotson School accepts referrals from partner school districts on an ongoing basis throughout the school year. Parents, students and school district representatives are encouraged to schedule time to visit the school and to learn about the available educational programming and specialized supports and services.
