District Equity Statement

The Board of Education directs that all students enrolled in the schools of this district shall be afforded equal educational opportunities in strict accordance with the law. No students shall be denied access to or benefit from any educational program or activity or from a co-curricular or athletic activity on the basis of the student's race, color, creed, religion, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, affectional or sexual orientation, gender, gender identity or expression, socioeconomic status, or disability. The Board directs the Superintendent to allocate faculty, administrators, support staff members, curriculum materials, and instructional equipment supplies among and between the schools and classes of this district in a manner that ensures equivalency of educational opportunity throughout this district. The school district's curricula in the following areas will eliminate discrimination, promote mutual acceptance and respect among students, and enable students to interact effectively with others, regardless of race, color, creed, religion, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, affectional or sexual orientation, gender, gender identity or expression, socioeconomic status, or disability:

1. School climate/learning environment
2. Courses of study, including Physical Education
3. Instructional materials and strategies
4. Library materials
5. Software and audio-visual materials
6. Guidance and counseling
7. Extra-curricular programs and activities
8. Testing and other assessments.

Course Description

World Civilizations provides the student with an in-depth study of world civilizations. It establishes a background of information for future studies in high school and college. The major civilization and historical periods in the history of mankind will be studied. The major areas are: Renaissance, Reformation, European exploration and expansion, Asia in transition, industrial revolution, Africa and the Americas, the rise of modern nations, revolutions, imperialism and the contemporary world.

Interdisciplinary Connections

- ✓ Shakespeare
- ✓ Renaissance literature
- ✓ Art and music
- ✓ Philosophy
- ✓ Science
- ✓ Comparative religions
- ✓ Mathematics
- ✓ Public speaking

Course Modifications (ELLs, Special Education, Gifted and Talented)

The teacher will determine, with the assistance of guidance counselors, teacher assistant/aides, educational specialists, and/or special education teachers, what modifications will be made for his/her students. Such examples of modifications can include, but not be limited to:

- Extended time as needed
- Modification of tests and quizzes
- Preferential seating
- Alternative/Formative assessment (projects)
- Effective teacher questioning (ranging from simple recall to higher order critical thinking questions)
- Supplemental materials
- Cooperative learning
- Teacher tutoring
- Peer tutoring
- Differentiated Instruction

Share these five areas with the students. If you are trying to integrate this with social studies, the social studies teacher will focus on these four areas in his or her lessons. Tell students that they will take on the persona of a person who lived through this time period and write at least five journals about their lives and experiences. Some possible personas to assume are as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • German soldier • American soldier • Holocaust survivor • Japanese interment prisoner • European child caught in the crossfire of battle • Survivor of one of the atomic bombs After students have chosen a persona, they need to do some research on what it would have been like to be that person during World War II. This research can be done in the school library or in the computer lab online. Create a journal. This journal should be individualized in its cover and pages. Students need to write at least
