

FAQs: FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

MPUSD's Facebook Fan Page

Q: What is the difference between a Facebook friend page and a Facebook fan page?

	FRIEND	FAN
Method of connection	One person sends an invitation to connect and the other accepts it	A person clicks on the "LIKE" button of an organization's fan page
What will be seen	You see a friend's updates and they see your updates	You see an organization's updates, but they can't see your updates
Number you can have	5,000 friends	Unlimited number of fans
Access to your profile	Friends can see your personal details (may be adjusted in privacy settings)	Organizations cannot see your personal information

Q: If you "like" a company or organization's Facebook fan page (such as MPUSD's page), can they see your wall and your activity?

A: No.

Q: What can the company or organization's Facebook fan page see?

A: "Liking" an organization's fan page is not the same as "friending" someone. An organization may be able to see what your settings allow them to see. Fan pages, like the MPUSD's Facebook page, cannot see your profile or updates, only your profile photo and name unless you have set your Facebook settings to public view.

Q: Will my posts appear in the company or organization's Facebook fan page?

A: No, unlike personal Facebook pages, fan pages do not receive a "News Feed" with information about what people are doing.

Q: What happens when you like MPUSD's Facebook fan page?

A: Depending on how you have set your privacy settings, a story may be published on your Facebook wall and may be published in your friends' News Feeds that you "liked" the MPUSD page. Any action that you take on MPUSD's Facebook fan page will abide by the privacy settings you currently have set for News Feed and Wall. You may adjust these settings at any time by visiting the News Feed and Wall section of your Privacy Settings page.
