

Phlebotomy

Phlebotomy courses cover duties associated with the practice of venipuncture, capillary puncture and special collection procedures and a clinical. It also includes experience with quality control, infection control and safety procedures as well as laboratory computer systems. Students successfully completing this course and clinical may apply for a National Phlebotomy Registry Examination.

- Work in a hospital, private clinic, laboratory or research center
- Prepare for a nationally recognized registry exam
- Be part of a growing field within the health care industry

Careers in Phlebotomy

Phlebotomist
Lab Assistant

Phlebotomy Technician
Patient Services Technician

