Placentia Library and PYLUSD -- A Successful Partnership Now and In the Future

Dr. Greg Plutko, PYLUSD Superintendent – July 2017

For as long as the Placentia Library has served the public, the Placentia-Yorba Linda Unified School District (PYLUSD) has cherished its partnership. Just like a family room or a kitchen table, the PYLUSD community enjoys utilizing the library's facilities to gather, connect, and grow.

Throughout the years, the Placentia Library has focused on providing an extensive range of future-ready, educational resources to the PYLUSD community. Our elementary, middle, and high school students are very fortunate to have access to a large, updated collection of books and eBooks, research materials, digital magazines, music, videos and, perhaps most importantly, homework help.

Aside from utilizing the more traditional services offered by the library, PYLUSD students also benefit from the summer reading program, academic classes, various storytimes, and much more. The library's large lineup of constructive programs and resourceful services is something we could not possibly duplicate at each school.

In further expanding the special relationship with the Placentia Library, PYLUSD looks forward to implementing the Community of the 21st Century (C21) program for the 2017-18 school year. This program, designed to reinforce students with good character values, will take place in all Placentia elementary schools. As an added layer of excitement, El Dorado High School student, Mateo Pantoja, designed the C21 program logo. We look forward to seeing Mateo's design (pictured right) used on all program materials.

PYLUSD thanks the Placentia Library for its continued partnership in helping prepare our students for success now and in the future.
