A technology-based class eligible for HQT exemption is defined as "A computer-based program providing all student instruction, assessment and grading." A student in this class may not be provided any instruction, assessment or grading by any on-site teacher. This type of class is fully computer-based and student self-directed. In order to exclude classes from HQT data collection, principals must submit this form each year for classes which meet the exemption requirements. The deadline to request a technology-based exemption is September 15 and must be approved by the HQT Section to receive an exemption. Please refer to Flowcharts E, F, & G in the ESSA HQT Handbook for details.
