What is Provisional Admission?

• Offers of admission for first-time freshman applicants are almost always provisional.
• Admission offers will remain provisional until colleges have verified that applicants reported accurately on your admission application and that all of the following admission requirements are met by the end of the Spring term.
• Completion each of their (“a-g” courses) with a grade of 'C' or better;
• Have an overall final high school GPA in college preparatory courses that is the same, or higher than, what was reported on the Admission Application. While some decrease in GPA may continue to meet admission eligibility, declines below admission cutoffs will result in the withdrawal of the admission offer.
• Failure to meet the above conditions will result in the rescinding of the admission offer.
Housing

Living on campus offers numerous opportunities for students to build lifelong friendships, develop as leaders and achieve academic success. Offers of apartment-style residence halls that are a short walk to class, the University-Student Union and various campus resources. Be sure you look in the portal for the housing application as well as all deadlines for housing.
English and Math Placement

To better prepare students for academic success many new freshmen who demonstrate they will require academic support to successfully complete college-level mathematics and/or English composition will be required to begin Math and/or English courses in the summer.
The average student expenses will vary from student to student, depending on his/her living arrangements and individual needs. For the estimated cost of attendance at each prospective college, visit the financial aid webpage, and select the appropriate academic year.
Orientation

• New students are required to attend Orientation to learn more about the university, and receive academic advisement and assistance with class registration.
Enrollment Deposit/Statement of Intent to Register

• Once you have made the decision to attend, you must reserve your seat in the incoming class by submitting your Enrollment Confirmation Deposit (ECD). For Fall admission, the deposit is due no later than May 1\textsuperscript{st} (or as otherwise stated in your admission notification).
