The University of California is one of the finest research universities in the world. Its academic offerings span 150 disciplines, with more departments ranked in the top 10 nationally than at any other public or private university. And the rewards of a UC education extend beyond the University's classrooms. UC graduates enjoy high acceptance rates at graduate and professional schools and compete successfully in the job market with graduates of other top universities and colleges.

Browsing this site, you'll learn about entrance requirements and see how UC evaluates applications. You'll also discover the University's commitment to maintaining accessibility for high-achieving students regardless of their financial means. In fact, UC enrolls a higher percentage of low- and moderate-income students than any other university in the country.

The Association of Independent
California
Colleges and Universities

The Association of Independent California Colleges and Universities (AICCU) serves as the unified statewide voice of independent higher education in California. The association represents 77 private colleges and universities on policy issues with the state and federal government. Additionally, it currently is collaborating with a few international schools in Mexico.
