Do you struggle just to get through the day? Think you have time to think about your child's future tomorrow, next week or next year? You are not alone! But you should know this: The future is COMING and it will be here before you know it.

- Are you prepared?
- Is your child prepared?
- Do you know everything you need to know?

Parents of children with disabilities need to put more effort into planning for the future than parents of children who do not have a disability. And parents of children with disabilities need to start with that planning earlier than most.

Whether your child just received a diagnosis, or will transition into adult life this spring, the time to educate yourself on what is possible, and begin thinking about and planning for the future is NOW! It's never too early; or too late to look ahead!
