AP World History Extra Credit

ACTION OR POP FUNKO FIGURES

For this extra credit assignment you will be choosing a total of three characters (one from each time period we have studied) to create the “packaging” for that character’s toy figurine. The requirements are the same regardless of whether you choose to do action figures or Pop Funko figures. All work must be your own and all drawings must be done by hand. The biography can be typed and attached if you would like to (the template is available in Google Classroom if you would like to type directly on it and then print).

Each figure you complete will be worth 10 points in the “Other Assessments” category of your grade. We have had just over 300 points in this category so if you earned the full 30 points for doing an exceptional job on this project, that category of your grade could improve 9-10%. However, your overall grade will not be affected as significantly, probably 1-3% but I won’t know for sure until the grades are actually added. (I reserve the right to adjust the point total if the impact on your overall grade is more than 3%)

I realize that it is final exam time and you have other classes to prepare for. Take a look at your own grade and decide whether or not this is worth your time and effort. If you decide to complete the assignment, take the time to do it well but don’t let it get in the way of preparing for your test next week since that will have a much more significant impact on your grade. This extra credit project is due on Tuesday, December 12 (5th period) or Wednesday, December 13 (7th period). We will peer assess them in class before I grade them. Use the rubric on the back to ensure you earn the highest possible score.
