Admin Corner

Every month, we will be focusing on one of the eight multiple intelligences. This month's M.I. focus is:

Kinesthetic OR BODY SMART

Kinesthetic intelligence is having control of one's bodily motions and the capacity to handle objects skillfully. Physical activities such as sports, dance, and making things, are characteristic activities of body smart people. These learners are generally interested in careers that include the following: athletes, dancers, musicians, actors, builders, police officers, and soldiers.
