Look What We're Learning

In language arts, we are reading words that have phonemes. Please help your child identify and read words that have these word chunks (phonograms) in them: au, ir, er, ur, kn, ew, ed, oo, or, ee, ay, ou, aw, ar, oy, oi, ow, all, air, ch, tch, ing, ear, ly, ph, wr, wh, gh, tion, ey, ea and th.

We are reading "How To" books, identifying common characteristics in them, and learning to follow written directions.

In writing workshop, we are continuing to work on sounding out and writing words, spacing between words and revising what we have written.

In math, we are learning to do addition and subtraction problems to 10, we practicing more on the number 11-20, how to read them and write them. We also learned more about number sequences.

In science, we are learning about space as well as day and night.

In social studies, we are learning facts about George Washington and patriotic holidays.
