INFORMATION FOR PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS:

The District's philosophy of education is one which incorporated the belief that the schools are maintained primarily for learners; that these learners are individuals entitled to be dealt with as such. It is believed that best results are obtained through democratic cooperation in the broadest of sense of the word. The District desires the following traits in its Teachers:

- ❖ Teachers who regard their work as a real profession.
- ❖ Teachers who are willing to work. The demands are not unreasonable and a full professional day is expected.
- ❖ Teachers who are willing to grow, by reading current professional literature affiliating with professional organizations, attending and contributing to Teacher's meetings.
- ❖ Teachers who are interested in the District schools as a whole, not merely one grade, subject or building.
- ❖ Teachers who understand that they must constantly be alive educationally, to know what of the old to discard and what of the new to accept.
- ❖ Teachers who realize the awareness of the community is very much a part of the total teaching process.
